

WELLQUEST™

Your Journey to Better Health

WELCOME TO WELLQUEST™!

WellQuest™ is a game designed to facilitate supportive community learning about diabetes prevention. WellQuest™ is a match-3 style game set within a community garden.

Players like you from a National DPP group or class work together to grow a variety of fruits and vegetables to support a healthy diet.

The coach leading your National DPP should have provided you with a 6-digit PIN and links for downloading the WellQuest™ app from the iPhone App Store or Google Play, based on your device. The game is designed for play on iOS or Android mobile phones and will not be accessible or playable from other platforms (eg, website or gaming console).

Once you download the game, simply enter the PIN, select your screen name and an avatar, and start playing. (Only your coach will know which PINs go with which participants.)

Coaches will be sharing data with BioCentric, the company that designed the game, and BioCentric will be sharing data with coaches about gameplay. We are exchanging this information so that we can see if the game is as helpful as we believe it to be or if we need to modify it to better support the National DPP and players like you.

Please be assured that all data shared is anonymous to protect your privacy.
